Zvika Mintz has been an independent urban planner in Israel since 2000. He has more than twenty five years of experience in the field of regional, city and neighborhood planning for the state & local authorities.

Zvika is a graduate of Ben-Gurion University where he received his B.A degree in Geography Development and he continued his training with an MSc at the Technion in the Faculty of Architecture and Town Planning.

Zvika conducted plans and programs for local authorities that seek to revitalize common areas of public & private spaces, and transform them into successful places.

He specializes in historical sites such as railway stations that were shut down in cities and rural areas. His program focuses on offering multiple uses which will be located in the renewed space. The 3 components that are considered to create these uses are: preservation of the historical spirit of the place, preservation of the architecture and consideration of the community's & market's needs.
